The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11-18 and 22-25 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lemke et al 6692272 (Figure 6) in view of JP 2002-334748.

Lemke et al substantially discloses the claimed invention, including:

Claims 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16: terminals S5+, S5-, and the G terminals directly below them, and S6+, S6-, and the G terminals directly below them.

Claims 11, 13 and 15: terminals S5+, S5-, and the G terminals directly below them, and S7+, S7-, and the G terminals directly above them.

Claims 11, 17 and 18: terminals S4+, S4-, and the G terminals immediately adjacent either side thereof in the same row.

Lemke et al, however, does not disclose an outer connector housing with the terminals being connected to cable wires and being located entirely inside the housing. JP '748 discloses (Figures 3 and 10) an outer connector housing (shield) with the terminals connected to cable wires and being located entirely inside the housing. Thus it would have been obvious to provide Lemke et al with an outer connector housing, the terminals being connected to cable wires and being located entirely inside the housing, as taught by JP '748, to facilitate connection between a shielded cable and a substrate.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lemke et al in view of JP 2002-334748 as applied to claims 11-18 and 22-25 above, and further in view of Zhang et al 6736676.

Lemke et al as modified by JP '748 substantially discloses the claimed invention except for the terminals being embedded in a retainer body which is received in a surrounding housing. Zhang et al discloses retainer bodies 20, 30, 40 having terminals embedded therein, the retainer bodies being received in surrounding housing 10. It thus would have been obvious to form the Lemke et al connector as modified by JP '748 with a housing which receives therein a retainer body having embedded terminals, for ease of manufacture.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 2833

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
